FIRST HAND DATA ON

SHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 24.—Putnam county farmers will learn their obligation to conserve and protect their soils as they see the demonstration in the TVA we will become Indiana's leading agricultural county. This is a opinion among the local farmers and farm leaders touring the TVA this week.

Indiana valley officials have the Putnam County Farmers' typical southern hospitality and have not left a stone turned to make them comfortable and show them the things they wished to see on educational tour. Steve, a very likable and capable employee of TVA—has been and director for the group in the valley.

At night W. M. Landess, of the program exposition of TVA discussed man and resources before the 32 Putnam county touring farmers and them spellbound with an lecture that will not forgotten.

Taft Announces His Candidacy For President

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—(UP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, today announced his candidacy for next year's Republican presidential nomination. He is 58 years old and the son of a former president, William Howard Taft, 1909-13.

Taft keyed his announcement to a cautious campaign of avoiding preconvention primary contests with other Republican aspirants.

His announcement came in the face of determined insistence by many influential Republicans that Taft would be a weak candidate. His supporters respond sharply that Taft already is the most influential man in his party. They insist that the 1948 G.O.P. platform must be largely a Taft platform because he was so effective in shaping the party's legislation during the past session of congress.

Faces 3rd Trial In Rape Slaying

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 24.—(UP)—Taxi-driver Glenn Robinson today faced the possibility of being tried a third time for the rape-slaying of pretty Mrs. Jeanette Reymann after court action in the case ended in a mistrial for the second time in a month. Judge Frank Hooper ruled a mistrial late last night when the jury reported a 7-5 deadlock after nearly seven hours of deliberation.

Robinson's first trial had a similar ending in mid-September when the first jury faced an 8-4 split. Robinson is charged with the brutal murder of Mrs. Reymann, wife of a Bogart, Ga., tourist camp operator, whose beaten and ravished body was found stuffed into the rear of her pickup truck here last June 26.

Duck Season Opens Nov. 18

Putnam county hunters were reminded today that the duck season will open Nov. 18 and close Dec. 17. The quota is four and only one wood duck may be included.

The bag limit on rabbits has been cut from 10 to five as result of a new law. Hunters are requested by the state conservation department to remember this lower limit. On the 1947 hunting licenses, issued before the law became effective, the rabbit limit is listed as ten, but the legal quota is five.

JURY FAVORS DEFENDANT IN DAMAGE SUIT

VERDICT RETURNED FOR
WILLIAM A. MONNETT
OF GREENCASTLE

A verdict in favor of the defendant—William A. Monnett of Greencastle—was returned late Thursday afternoon by the Montgomery circuit court jury which heard the $25,000 damage suit brought by Jo Joyce Urschel of North Manchester, a minor, through her father, Joseph M. Urschel, as her next friend.

The case, which was venued to Crawfordsville from Putnam county, resulted from an automobile accident which occurred near Greencastle Nov. 11, 1945. Miss Urschel, at the time of the accident, was a student at DePauw university, and Monnett was a serviceman home on furlough.

With the completion of evidence Wednesday noon, the jurors were ordered to visit the scene of the accident by Judge Howard A. Sommer, who presided during the trial.

Immediately after the noon lunch Wednesday, the jurors were conveyed to Greencastle in charge of Bailiff W. F. Hitch, to view the place, three miles east of Greencastle, where the accident happened.

Coed Located In New Mexico

FRANKLIN, Ind., Oct. 24.—(UP)—A two-month search for a missing 20-year-old telephone operator was ended by police today after she turned up safe and sound in Santa Fe, N. M., with apologies for not advising her family where she was.

Miss Doris Louise Davis, former Franklin College student, disappeared from a rooming house here Sept. 2 under mysterious circumstances. She was not heard from until yesterday. Rev. Fred Baldus, pastor of the First Baptist church here, said he received a letter from a Santa Fe church requesting a "change in membership" for Miss Davis.

Rev. Clint Irwin of the Santa Fe Baptist church later told a Franklin Evening Star reporter by telephone that Miss Davis was employed in a department store in Santa Fe and had been attending his church for several weeks.

He quoted the girl as saying that she was "sorry" she had not notified her family in Davison, Mich.

"I intended to let them know," she said, "but I kept delaying it, then informing them seemed so difficult."

She said she went directly to Denver and on Sept. 8 arrived in Santa Fe.

Miss Davis told Irwin she left Franklin because of "personal" reasons and did not explain further. She disappeared a few days after talking with her step-mother, Mrs. Floy Crago of Davison.

According to the police, a 1935 Dodge coach, owned and driven by Robert Larimore, of Danville, was going west on Washington when a break occurred in the steering mechanism and the machine went out of control. The car struck the 1947 Pontiac coach belonging to Dr. J. F. Conrad, which was parked on the north side of the street in front of the Conrad home. It also hit a 1937 Pontiac sedan belonging to Elmer Spencer, parked just ahead of the Conrad car.

Kiwanians Hear Talk On Bowery

Prof. Raymond Mulligan of the DePauw Sociology Department staff related some of his experiences in the Bowery to the Kiwanis Club at its luncheon Thursday.

While taking advanced work in sociology, Prof. Mulligan made a study of some of the men who were being cared for by the Bowery Mission, perhaps the best known agency in operation there.

He found that the inhabitants of that area fall into three general classifications. First are the derelicts who have lost all ambition, who are usually drunkards and who are past rehabilitation. Second are the unemployed. Third are the "poor judgment" cases who blame all their misfortunes on a poor decision they made sometime in the past. Fourth are the young transients who are seeing the country and stop over for a short time out of curiosity.

The Bowery Mission, which is supported by the Christian Herald, tries to rehabilitate as many men as possible through religious inspiration. The mission feeds them, provides a place for them to sleep and helps in obtaining jobs.

Before 1900 the Bowery was primarily an entertainment center. Mr. Mulligan said, where Eddie Cantor, Sophie Tucker, Irving Berlin and others first started. However, the entertainment houses have all moved out and the section today has only lodging houses, saloons, second hand stores and pawn shops.

British Train Crash Kills 31

CROYDON, Eng. Oct. 24.—(INS)—Thirty-one persons were killed and 120 injured in a collision between two crowded London suburban trains at the height of the rush hour today.

Several of the victims are believed to have lost their lives through electrocution.

All of the suburban trains operating between London and Croydon, site of the nation's largest pre-war airport, are electrified.

Nine women were listed among the dead.

A railroad official said earlier that 150 were hurt, some perhaps fatally, and it was not determined at once whether any of the dead were included in the official figure. The wreck occurred between Croydon, on London's southern outskirts, and Purley Oaks two miles to the southeast.

A passenger said a number of persons were trapped in the wreckage. The wreck occurred on a main line just before the 9 A. M. rush hour and blocked all other traffic.

A request was flashed to all nearby districts for ambulances. Croydon police received a radio message from the scene to rush every blanket available and sent up police reinforcements.

Some coaches were crushed, others turned over. Croydon is on the southern edge of London; Purley Oaks two miles to the southwest.

Actress' Mother Raps Communists

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24. (UP)—Film star Ginger Rogers' mother today asked Congress to outlaw the Communist party and "preserve the Bill of Rights for those for whom it was designed."

Mrs. Lela Rogers, a trim, blue-suited figure with a swept back blonde coiffure, told the House Un-American Activities Committee that Communists in Hollywood—she named playwright Clifford Odets among them—tried to infiltrate "our unions," our scripts and our productions.

Under questioning by Committee Counsel Robert E. Stripling, she said the Communist party ought to be outlawed as "an agency of a foreign government."

She said the Bill of Rights ought to be preserved for those "for whom it was designed." She did not identify these persons, but said the Bill of Rights should not apply to "the saboteurs and enemies of our country."

Also called to appear after Mrs. Rogers in the fifth day of the Communism-in-Hollywood investigation were film cartoon producer Walt Disney, Holly-

HIGH PRICES ONE PROBLEM FOR CONGRESS

HOPE TO PREVENT REVIVAL OF CONTROLS AND RATIONING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24. (UP)—Congress greeted President Truman's call for a special session today with signs of willingness to tackle the problem of high prices but without reviving price controls and rationing.

From both the White House and Congress came indications that serious consideration would be given to attacking the price problem through an allocation program—a quota system for buyers of steel, grain and other scarce goods. The aim would be to prevent big buyers from bidding freely against each other.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24. (UP)—Facts about President Truman's radio address to the nation giving reasons for the Nov. 17 special session of Congress: Time: 10 p. m., EST. Subject: All.

Network: The "alarming and continuing" price increases in this country and the need for emergency foreign aid.

and thereby forcing prices up.

Despite the great interest in prices, there was no evidence that Congress would shy away from the accompanying foreign relief problem, although the Republican majority will demand a detailed case to support requests for emergency aid. It was understood that the administration may ask for about $1,000,000,000, including $642,000,000 to help carry France and Italy through the winter.

Mr. Truman's proclamation called for the legislators to convene at noon, Nov. 17, in the first special session since 1933. Speaking over all major radio networks at 10 p. m. (EST) tonight, the President will explain his decision to recall Congress to consider "the alarming and continuing increase in prices" and the economic crisis in western Europe.

Perhaps reflecting recess talks with their constituents, congressmen appeared particularly interested in Mr. Truman's move to link the domestic price situation with foreign aid.

Congressional leaders who attended the President's pre-announcement conference at the White House yesterday came away with the impression that he had no intention of asking for rationing and price controls but proposed to recommend an allocation program to deal with prices.

Gangster Killed; Gang War Looms

FAIRFIELD, Ill., Oct. 24.—(UP)—A new gang war threatened to break the peace of southern Illinois today as result of the assassination of Carl Shelton, 59-year-old farmer, gunman and bootlegger who battled his rivals with tanks, armored cars and an airplane.

Southern counties of the state have a long tradition of violence born in crime fights, mine wars and personal feuds.

Authorities feared today that the tradition would be continued by cohorts of the slain gangsters who might seek their own vengeance on the men who riddled him with 15 or 20 slugs as he drove his jeep along a dusty country road yesterday.

Police thought he may have been killed by a rival ring of gamblers intent on eliminating him from the business. Shelton also had been involved in a recently in a squabble with neighbors over cattle which had strayed off his huge Wayne county farm and grazed on their property.

A nephew, Earl Shelton, Jr., witnessed the shooting from a but said the Bill of Rights should not apply to "the saboteurs and enemies of our country."

It was reported that authorities were searching for Charlie Harris, one of the neighbors involved in the squabble with Shelton over the cattle.

MAINE FOREST FIRE DAMAGE IN MILLIONS

RESORT TOWN OF BAR HARBOR IS RAZED BY FLAMES

ELLSWORTH, Me. Oct. 24.—(INS)—The death toll in the New England states rose to 13 today as raging forest fires destroyed at least 7,000 homes and razed two-thirds of swanky Bar Harbor, Me.

Eight small Maine towns have been wiped out so far, and property damage is expected to exceed 50 million dollars.

BAR HARBOR, ME., Oct. 24.—(UP)—A 10-mile wall of fire with flames 200 feet high swept in a giant pincher across Mount Desert Island today leaving in its $10,000,000 wake this smoldering ghost town from which 3,500 residents had fled.

Ahead lay the villages of Seal Harbor, Somesville, Northeast and Southwest Harbors—their townfolk already in full flight. Behind where the ruins of homes, stores, hotels and palatial estates which made this picturesque coastal village a vacation land for people of wealth.

Driven to the rock-bound waterfront when this town was ringed by a curtain of flames, the villagers spent five terror-filled hours before they escaped by sea or overland on a route hacked through the fiery trap.

With half their town demolished, most of the frightened refugees were led to safety by a heroic band of soldiers from Dow Field who rode their bucking bulldozers through the ever-tightening ring of flames, cutting a lane to safety over the Hull's Cove road. Others had been taken off the island by navy, coast guard or fishing boats.

Now these volunteers had gone back to make a stand on the Southwest Harbor road, facing the approaching inferno with shovels, axes and dynamite.

From Beech Hill, a half-mile from the holocaust Dr. John B. Ellis, a Bar Harbor dentist, watched the fiery scene below.

"I saw the great mansions go tumbling down," he said, "flames spouting from the roofs. I saw Joseph Pulitzer's huge estate consumed and the E. T. Stotesbury cottage that cost $2,500,000 to build and furnish, turned to ashes."

"Mary Roberts Rinehart's place is gone and the home of Henry Morgenthau Jr., is lost. So is the great place owned by R. Amory Thordike, and the one built by A. Atwater Kent. I'd say 25 per cent of the settled area on the island is nothing but rubble."

Flames that ravaged multimillionaires' homes thus far had spared most of the fashionable shops in the business area. But the hotels—Malvern, Belmont and De Gregoire, were demolished.

As the fire swept on to within four blocks of the waterfront where townsfolk huddled, navy and coast guard craft, guided by radar, picked their way through the blanket of smoke that hung like fog over the sea. Enroute were additional cutters, tugs and the navy destroyer Perry with food, clothing and medical supplies.

Meanwhile the soldiers, some with asbestos suits, managed to break through the barrier of fire and the evacuees streamed away from the doomed town.

A dozen communities including Ellsworth had set up receiving stations and here the mothers and their children were cared for while the menfolk continued their fire-fighting.

IN MEMORY
 In memory of Wynona May Fitzsimmons.
 At the end of the winding pathway of life
 A gate swings open wide,
 And there in the dusk as twilight falls,
 You have silently stepped inside.
 The gateway leads to a garden fair
 Where the sunset gleams so bright,
 And the ones we love are happy there
 When we close our eyes at night,
 God guides us through each night and day.
 When we alone would lose our way;
 He helps us see the sunshine bright,
 And turns our darkness into light.
 Because His promises are true,
 Our sorrows are less heavy, too.
 To Him we turn with every care,
 Knowing He our load will share.
 Of all our joys He is a part,
 This Savior of the loving heart,
 And while we walk this winding pathway,
 With hopes that, when life shall end,
 That on some great tomorrow
 We will meet our loved ones once again.
 Sadly missed by mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fitzsimmons, D.

French Faction Open Campaign

PARIS, Oct. 24.—(UP)—Supporters of Gen. Charles De Gaulle stepped up their campaign today to recruit an inter-party organization of deputies who would dissolve the National Assembly and open the way for new elections that might sweep De Gaulle into the premiership.

Inasmuch as De Gaulle's six-month-old rally of the French people rose to power in Sunday's municipal elections, it has no representation in the Assembly and under the constitution as it now stands no chance of getting any before next May's elections.

But De Gaulle has friends in other parties in the Assembly. Their idea was to form an "intergroup" for defense of true democracy that would by two-thirds majority amend the constitution to provide for immediate elections and dissolve the present session.

Then, under their plan, De Gaulle's rally could run candidates and if enough were elected to the Assembly, De Gaulle, the Communists' bitterest foe in France could get himself installed as premier.

Their accelerated recruiting campaign was particularly concentrated on deputies of the popular Republican movement, at whose expense largely De Gaulle ran up his victory or about 46 per cent of the popular vote Sunday.

TAX ON CIGARETTES
FAIR ABOVE ESTIMATE

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 24.—The three-cent-a-pack cigarette tax imposed by the last legislature may produce $12,000,000 in revenue during the first year of its operation, Henry L. Myers, director of the cigarette tax division, estimated today.

This is $3,000,000 more than the estimate of revenue made when the bill was before the legislature.

Myers said cigarette tax collections have amounted to more than $4,500,000 in the last three and a half months.

Looking at Life*Erich Brandeis

Dartmouth College has added a new course to its curriculum. It is called "Great Issues," and all seniors will be required to take it.

Among the "Great Issues" to be taught are "Political Loyalty," "The Scientific Revolution and the Radical Fact of Atomic Energy," "The International Aspects of World Peace," and "What Values for the Modern Man?"

There will also be a section called "What Is A Great Issue?", and it is that section I want to talk about.

Political loyalties, world peace, atomic energy, scientific revolution—all those and many more are great issues, I admit.

But there are greater issues, and I am afraid that these greater issues will be overlooked, just as scientists and learned men are so often overlooking the really important issues because they are so utterly simple.

For the issues which I consider great the Bible might well serve as a textbook. I am not thinking of the Bible now as a religious book, but as a book of such deep common sense, such fundamental humanities, such a clear and beautiful guide to life.

Without the issues in our Bible all the other "great issues" are worth anything.

All the things that are going to be taught at Dartmouth are worth the moment of the students' time, unless they have first learned the great issues that differentiate the human being from the animal, and that form the basis of everything worth-while.

One of the first great issues that should be taught is love of one another.

Have we ever been taught successfully to eliminate greed and lust for power and wealth? Have we ever been taught the great value of meekness and humility? We have read and we have been told a lot about neighborliness and charity and tolerance and good will, but we have not been taught successfully to apply those virtues to our daily lives.

What a wonderful job Dartmouth—or any other school—could do by laying the foundation for the practical application of the "great issues" by first teaching students how to make the real great issues part of their lives.

All the science, all the wisdom, all the learning now available to mankind has not kept this sorry world of ours from becoming a pitiful mess of hatreds, envies, mistrusts and slaughter.

Everyone of the men now responsible for all the turmoil is sufficiently well educated to be a teacher of "great issues" at Dartmouth or anywhere else.

I wish to God that we could have on this earth today some teachers of the quality of Christ!
